A wide variety of feeders and seed types are presented with helpful tips on how to attract the largest variety of birds.

Each profile for the 196 featured species includes a variety of photographs, an identification guide, a range map, information on bird seed and natural food preferences, and behavior. Other topics include:

- Why feeding birds is important
- Building do-it-yourself feeders
- Foiling squirrels

- Building shelters and nest boxes
- Involving children
- Photographing birds
- Hand feeding
- Recognizing individual birds and identifying similar-looking species
- Growing plant varieties that make a garden attractive to birds.

The book also contains information on how to choose the right seeds; the importance of ensuring all windows are bird-safe (with links to organizations that work to reduce bird-window collision); cat-friendly deterrents; and citizen science activities like the annual Christmas Bird Count and Project Feederwatch. 100 FLYING BIRDS
Photographing the Mechanics of Flight
Peter Cavanagh

“Flight is the essence of birdness. I strive to illustrate the beauty and complexity of avian flight.” — Peter Cavanagh

100 Flying Birds offers a vivid and varied glimpse into the world of birds. A white-tailed eagle plummeting through a Japanese sky, a brown pelican striking a silhouette against an Ecuadorian sunset, an Atlantic puffin carrying its fish dinner above the Scottish coast, or a keel-billed toucan gliding through a Costa Rican jungle canopy; readers will marvel at the splendor of birds in flight while learning the techniques to capture these gravity-defying moments from a world-class nature photographer.

For each picture, author and photographer Peter Cavanagh shares his most evocative thoughts: the challenges of the shoot, the beauty of the location, and the curiosities of the species. Bird people will enjoy the bird photographs and facts, travelers will gobble up the tales of distant parts, and photographers will absorb the technical details. For instance, readers might be surprised to see that a very slow shutter speed can freeze the motion of hummingbird wings.

Peter Cavanagh has collected 100 beautiful photos spanning a wide range of species. The subjects of each of the 11 chapters are:
• Eagles
• Hummingbirds
• Gulls & Terns
• Small Waterbirds
• Large Waterbirds
• Ducks, Geese and Swans
• Raptors
• Condors and Corvids
• Cranes
• Songbirds
• Favorites.

Peter Cavanagh is a wildlife photographer who has been taking pictures since he was a boy in England. Peter's migration to the photography and study of bird flight evolved from his study of flight aerodynamics for aircraft pilot qualifications; his professional training in anatomy, biomechanics, and high-speed photography; and his love of nature and the outdoors. Peter's images have been included in the Audubon Society's Top 100 Bird Photographs of the Year, he is a member of the North American Nature Photographers Association, and he has guest-curated the exhibit “How Birds Fly” at the Seattle Museum of Flight. Peter lives in the San Juan Islands of Washington State with his wife, artist Ann Vandervelde.

CREATURES OF THE DEEP
In Search of the Sea’s Monsters and the World They Live In
Erich Hoyt

Praise for the first edition:

“More than a picture book ... Hoyt's elegant writing provides both the historical background for deep-sea exploration and an ecological perspective on life in the ocean's depths.”
—American Scientist

“A magnificent bestiary ... and a reminder of how little we actually know about the seas surrounding us.”
—Popular Science

Winner, Outstanding Nonfiction Book of the Year
—American Society of Journalists and Authors, Inc., New York

In this updated third edition of Creatures of the Deep, award-winning nature and science writer Erich Hoyt gives readers a glimpse of the amazing variety of creatures found in the deepest parts of the ocean. Weaving together details from the latest scientific research about sharks, giant squid, dragonfish, huge tube worms, clams and tiny microbes of the deep-sea vents, Hoyt embarks on a magical journey roaming across the abyssal plains and descending into deep-sea trenches more than 20,000 feet down.

Hoyt unravels the complex predator-prey relationships, from “killer” copepods to battles between giant squid and sperm whales, presenting compelling portraits of animals that are superbly adapted denizens of a dark high-pressure world. There are life forms, independent of sunlight and photosynthesis, which flourish around the hot, sulfurous deep-sea vents in the magnificent rift valley of the mid-ocean ridge, the world’s longest mountain range. Surviving in conditions that appear to be close to the very soup of primordial Earth, these microbes have become the basis for the latest research into Earth’s origins. The book is fully illustrated with fantastic underwater imagery.

Erich Hoyt has spent much of his life on or beside the sea, working with whales and dolphins and marine conservation. A noted conservationist and scientist, he has written more than 20 books including the acclaimed Orca: The Whale Called Killer, Encyclopedia of Whales, Dolphins and Porpoises, Strange Sea Creatures plus several children’s books including Weird Sea Creatures and Whale Rescue. He lives in Dorset, England.
“Pushing the frontiers of nature photography since the early 1970s, Stephen Dalton has sublimely crafted images that bring time to a stop, revealing the secret lives of creatures — mostly small and fast-moving — that would otherwise appear as blurs and streaks to the unaided eye. In this arresting career retrospective, each photograph merits a well-told story... Looking back, Dalton recalls being overcome by the wonder of ‘witnessing things that no human had ever seen before.’ So should all who behold these marvelous images.” — Natural History Magazine

In this fascinating book Stephen Dalton takes the reader on a journey, recounting how he started in photography and how he became fascinated with the idea of photographing insects and birds in flight.

When Dalton started to combine his interests in nature and photography, no photographer had succeeded in capturing on film a focused image of an animal in midair. There were no digital cameras, no high-speed film, only primitive flash units powered by a heavy car battery. Color film took a week or more to be sent away and processed, too late for Dalton to make adjustments to his camera and flash set-up. There were also no publications to learn from.

Dalton describes how persistence, hard work and sheer faith that it could be done pushed him to experiment with a variety of methods. Two years of repeated attempts, an understanding of flight mechanics and insight into the art of photography brought success: he captured a sharply focused image of a barn owl leaving its nest. Dalton had created the art of motion photography.

Capturing Motion is part memoir, part adventure story and part scientific explanation, illustrated throughout with Dalton’s pioneering photographs. Dalton explains how the photographic equipment of the time worked and takes the reader on his journeys into the English countryside in the 1960s as he searched for subjects. Each attempt could be long and frustrating but success finally came with his image of a barn owl in flight.

Capturing Motion follows the incredible journey of a highly skilled and creative nature photographer inventing an entirely new method. All photographers will enjoy reading about the determination and skill that went into creating a method they use every day in their craft.

Stephen Dalton is an internationally respected photographer whose high-speed wildlife photography has earned him a devoted following of both nature lovers and photographers. Dalton has published several books, including Secret Lives; Caught in Motion and The Miracle of Flight. He lives in rural England.

STRANGE SEA CREATURES
Erich Hoyt

—BBC Wildlife Magazine

Marine researchers are discovering new ocean creatures every day, especially at its deepest depths. From the author of Creatures of the Deep, Encyclopedia of Whales, Dolphins and Porpoises and other books about the ocean and the animals that live there, comes a new title about some of the most unusual marine life forms.

The book organizes the creatures into three parts based on where they live in the ocean. Informative captions accompany the 90 gorgeous photographs of otherworldly creatures.

Part 1: Surface Waters of the Ocean at Night: The Blackwater Vertical Migrants
• In images taken by dedicated blackwater photographers Linda Ianniello and Susan Mears, these mostly larval creatures haunt the near-surface waters making vertical migrations every night to feed.

Part 2: Middle to Deep Dark Waters: Masters of the Language of Light
• In this perpetual night, survival is a matter of being able to understand and process light signals, some in different colors, some flashing, some faint — the most sophisticated use of bioluminescence on Earth. The sea creatures here are small with big eyes and even larger mouths with extraordinarily sharp teeth.

Part 3. The Continental Shelf to the Abyssal Plain: The Bottom Dwellers
• This bottom of the sea has fewer fish, and is populated by such alien-like creatures as no-eyed or tripod fish, sea cucumbers, as well as basket stars, crabs and worms, with species varying by depth and location.

The photographs were taken in the ocean by expert divers and submariners, most of whom are both scientists and underwater photographers. The images display the creatures vividly against a background as black as the ocean depths.

Erich Hoyt has spent much of his life on or beside the sea, working with whales and dolphins and marine conservation in the world’s oceans. A noted conservationist and scientist and an award-winning author, he has written 24 books including the acclaimed Orca: The Whale Called Killer, Insect Lives, The Earth Dwellers, Creatures of the Deep, Encyclopedia of Whales, Dolphins and Porpoises, and the children’s books Weird Sea Creatures and Whale Rescue. WILD ANIMALS I HAVE KNOWN
Ernest Thompson Seton

“The most precious book of my childhood.”
—Sir David Attenborough

An elegant and faithful reproduction of a classic.

Ernest Thompson Seton was born in England in 1860. He grew up in Toronto and from an early age his overriding passion was observation of the natural world. He spent countless hours in the woods discovering plants and fungi and quietly observing creatures of all sizes and species. He kept meticulous notes and drawings, building “an accurate account of the creature’s ways, habits, changing whims, and emotions.”

In his early 20s, Seton joined his brother on a homestead in Manitoba. He continued to dedicate himself to careful observation of animals in their element, and their relationships with humans, supporting himself through trapping and sales of his drawings and stories.

Wild Animals I Have Known is a collection of short stories written by Seton about animals he encountered. It was published in 1898, selling out in three weeks and reprinted 28 times. It made Seton an instant celebrity and a popular lecturer. The book has been published in a dozen languages and has never been out of print, which speaks volumes about the popularity and appeal of this classic book.

Wild Animals I Have Known opens with Seton’s most famous story, Lobo, The King of Currumpaw. It tells the true story of when Seton was hired by ranchers to trap Lobo, leader of a pack of wolves, which over the years had killed dozens of sheep and cattle. The hunt was successful but the story tragic. Seton would later regret his actions, having recognized that the human desire to overcome the wild reveals the innate human desire to exist in harmony with nature. Lobo was key to Seton’s transformation into a conservationist, but while swearing off hunting he would defend his telling of nature’s brutality: “The fact that these stories are true is the reason why all are tragic. The life of a wild animal always has a tragic end.”

Seton went on to write more than 50 books and hundreds of magazine articles, and he delivered countless public lectures in the service of animal and habitat conservation. His stories established a moral connection between people and animals, and helped to change society’s consciousness about the treatment of animals and the natural environment. He lobbied for the creation of national parks and fought for protections for wildlife. Today he is remembered for Lobo but scarcely as one of the lead authors of wildlife conservation.

The stories in Wild Animals I Have Known are illustrated with Seton’s original drawings as published in the first edition and bound in a faux-leather, embossed hardcover binding — which will make this restored edition a fine gift.

This lovely reproduction in the spirit of the original is an essential addition to personal and school libraries, all circulating collections and gift tables.
LIVES OF CONIFERS
A Comprehensive Account of the Coniferous Trees Indigenous to Northeastern North America
Graham R. Powell

“Graham Powell has written an insightful and beautifully illustrated book on the lives of conifers. Everyone who works with, studies, and loves these trees will derive both knowledge and pleasure from learning about them in great detail. I have always had a special fondness for the conifers and their mystical and inspiring representatives like the massive redwoods and the bleak denizens of the boreal forests, the spruces. I conclude that Powell’s book does them their well-deserved justice.” — Graeme Berlin, Yale University School of Forestry & Environmental Studies

A comparative account of the coniferous trees indigenous to Northeastern North America.

Extensively illustrated with full-color photographs, diagrams, and drawings by the author, Graham R. Powell’s Lives of Conifers examines the complex and fascinating life cycles of the 12 coniferous trees that grow naturally in northeastern North America on both sides of the Canada-U.S. border.

Tracing their development from seeds and seedlings, to saplings, through the pole stage to maturity, old age, and death, the book is designed to provide a comparison of each species at each stage of life, thus aiding in the recognition and identification of species at all stages of their existence. It includes descriptions of developmental processes and how they differ among the species.

The species covered in the book are:
- balsam fir
- eastern hemlock
- tamarack larch
- eastern white pine
- jack pine
- pitch pine
- red pine
- black spruce
- red spruce
- white spruce
- eastern juniper
- eastern thuja.

The book is based almost entirely on what is visible to the careful observer in the forest, and includes only the parts of trees that can be seen above ground. Lives of Conifers will appeal to forest scientists, forestry students, foresters, forest technologists, botanists, horticulturists, arborists, naturalists, and general readers interested in knowing more about their natural surroundings.

Graham R Powell earned his B.Sc. in Forestry at the University of Edinburgh, his MSc in Forest Ecology at the University of New Brunswick in Fredericton and his PhD from the University of Edinburgh. Professor Powell taught at the University of New Brunswick for 34 years. In 1997 he was appointed Professor Emeritus in the Faculty of Forestry and Environmental Management at the university.

ICELAND
Born of Lava, Chiseled by Ice
Arnold Zageris

Iceland has an alien quality that defies expectations. Its interior is lifeless and bare with volcanic formations that are reminiscent of what the earth must have looked like in Archean times. Hot geysers, deep mountainous fjords, and glaciers that carve their way into the lowlands are just some of the features that are compressed into this small island nation. It is just such a compelling and unfamiliar landscape that makes visiting here an ultimate trip.

“My focus was not on the iconic hotspots that made Iceland famous but the less visited and undiscovered features that had their own intrinsic values in texture, form and color. With each of my five visits I discovered much more by limiting myself to explore and familiarize myself with a small select unknown area becoming more an opportunistic photographer depending mostly on luck to find something that merited my attention. Whether I was climbing for days in the highlands of the interior, skirting calving glaciers, crossing a moonlike landscape or wandering a weatherbeaten shore, Iceland is a photographer’s paradise.”

Photographer Arnold Zageris was born in Germany in 1948 to a Latvian father and German mother. At the age of two and a half years, the Zageris family immigrated to Canada and settled in the remote northern mining town of Rouyn-Noranda, Quebec. Zageris has won many awards for his work and has exhibited in public and private galleries across Canada including: Art Bank of Canada, the Canadian Museum of Contemporary Photography, the Canadian Museum of Nature, the Robert McLaughlin Gallery in Oshawa, Ontario, and The Rooms in St. John’s, Newfoundland and Labrador. He is the author of two books: On the Labrador and Antarctica. Zageris now lives with his wife Joan in Peterborough, Ontario.
RAISING BUTTERFLIES IN THE GARDEN
Brenda Dziedzic

This exciting title is for butterfly lovers and gardeners who not only want to create a butterfly-friendly garden, but also want to support butterflies and moths in order to maintain healthy populations.

Author Brenda Dziedzic noticed that there were far fewer butterflies around today than she saw in her childhood. Starting in her own garden she set out to learn why and what she could do to fix this. Raising Butterflies in the Garden is the outcome of what she learned about these fascinating insects and the native plants they depend on. In this book, Dziedzic shares the vast experience she gained in helping butterflies thrive through all stages of life. She shows readers how they can do the same — no matter the time of year or the size of their property — by providing all of the information and practical guidance they need.

The book features more than 500 color photographs showing the life cycles of over 35 butterflies and moths — from egg to adult — as well as the host and nectar plants they rely on. Each profiled species also includes a North American range map.

Brenda Dziedzic is a Michigan gardener whose life changed when she became interested in butterflies. She is now an expert on the subject of raising Lepidopteran species and has won numerous awards for her work.

WATERSHEDS
A Practical Handbook for Healthy Water
Gregor Gilpin Beck; illustrations by Clive Dobson

Water is our most vital resource, yet few understand even the basics of watershed ecology. This new edition has been updated to reflect growing environmental challenges, such as climate change, the insidious spread of invasive species and the loss of biodiversity.

Watersheds: A Practical Handbook for Healthy Water is an engaging and informative introduction to ecology and environmental issues that focus on water-related issues. Well suited for youth or general readers of any age, Watersheds combines a profusion of beautiful illustrations with non-technical and accessible text, making it attractive as well as informative. The book explains ecological principles and environmental challenges, introduces North America’s major biological regions, outlines the complexities of water and nutrient cycles and explains the ecology of wetlands and waterways. Watersheds also explains some of the major environmental issues facing North America, including air pollution, water pollution, invasive exotic species, and habitat loss and destruction.

Watersheds provides detailed information on:
• water and nutrient cycles
• bioregions and aquatic habitats
• exotic species invasions
• water and air pollution
• ecological restoration

CYPRUS CUISINE
Christina Loucas

Though Cyprus is a small country, its cuisine features a large variety of dishes due to the many different cultural influences affecting the island’s history. There is also a substantial variation in climate around the country... from sunny beaches to snow-capped mountains. Cyprus cuisine has a Mediterranean allure, mixing Mediterranean and Middle Eastern flavors and ingredients.

Many Cypriot families still make home-made olive oil every year, and neighbors regularly exchange excess bounty of homegrown fruits and vegetables, including pomelo, grapes, carobs, figs, oranges, lemons, cantaloupe, bergamot, medlars, almonds, kumquats, cactus pears, and, of course, olives.

Most Cypriot dishes are not particularly hot or spicy, though there is ample use of local herbs such as wild oregano, rosemary, mint, parsley, basil, cinnamon and coriander. Spices such as allspice, cloves, mastic and mahleb powders can be found in many sweets and baked goods.

The book features 68 recipes, featuring all of these Cypriot culinary delights... and more. Illustrated in full color, Cyprus Cuisine offers a wide variety of Cypriot dishes, ranging from drinks to desserts, to soups, salads, small bites, breads and pastries, pickles, dips and main courses.

Christina Loucas is a Canadian-Cypriot. She has a BA in Jurisprudence from Oxford University and a BSc in Government and Economics from the London School of Economics. She currently writes and photographs for Taste Magazine in Cyprus.
FOOD, CULTURE, PLACE
Stories, Traditions and Recipes of Newfoundland
Lori McCarthy and Marsha Tulk

Many homes in Newfoundland still have well-stocked pantries of bottled moose or rabbit, freezers of corned capelin, and eider ducks at the ready, waiting for a special meal. Food, Culture, Place celebrates the land these foods come from and encourages everyone to put more traditional foods back on their plates.

Lori McCarthy and Marsha Tulk have been collecting and cooking their way through the wild foods of Newfoundland for decades. This book showcases their experiences and shares the stories they have captured through their work and the people they have met. Through it all runs a deep love of everything that it takes to harvest, hunt, and prepare these foods to be enjoyed.

Fish are caught, game hunted, berries and plants foraged. Food is prepared, preserved, and stored. Throughout are recipes for traditional dishes, regional delicacies, and modern preparations for today’s home cook.

Lori McCarthy is dedicated to the cultural foods of Newfoundland and Labrador through her company Cod Sounds. She has been listed as a hidden gem in National Geographic and has been written up in Coastal Living as one of the eight great excursions in North America.

Marsha Tulk’s love of photography started at a young age when she found her grandfather’s darkroom. She also continues crafting time-honored items like Newfoundland vamp and making a consistent supply of Cod Sounds’ own jigger slippers.

TEA

History, Terroirs, Varieties
Kevin Gascoyne, François Marchand, Jasmin Desharnais and Hugo Américi

“Beautifully illustrated... While there is no shortage of tea-related tomes, this definitive guide will appeal to die-hard tea enthusiasts interested in learning about the modern, global industry as well as the history and enjoyment of this ubiquitous beverage.”
— Library Journal

This widely praised bestseller has been updated to incorporate the changing tastes of tea drinkers, developments in production, the impact of climate change, and an expanded and more highly developed tea market. This third edition improves Tea with this revised and extended content plus new photographs.

Tea takes readers on an escorted tour of the world’s tea-growing countries — China, Japan, Taiwan, India, Sri Lanka, Nepal, Vietnam and East Africa — where they will discover how, like a fine wine, it is “terroir” (soil and climate) that gives a tea its unique characteristics.

The authors own the popular Camellia Sinensis Tea House in Montreal which imports teas directly from producers in these countries. Each author focuses on specific tea regions where they travel every year to work with growers and producers, discover new teas and keep abreast of developments that might, for example, remove a tea from the tea house’s menu.

The book covers black, green, white, yellow, oolong, pu’er, perfumed, aromatic and smoked teas and includes:

- An overview of the history of tea
- Tea families, varieties, cultivars and grades
- How tea is grown, harvested and processed
- The tea trade worldwide
- Profile interviews with tea industry personalities.

Kevin Gascoyne, François Marchand, Jasmin Desharnais and Hugo Américi are professional tea tasters and the owners of Camellia Sinensis Tea House in Montreal, Quebec.

“Educational, thought-provoking, and substantial. I've already recommended this book to (our) readers countless times.”
— Barista Magazine

The World Atlas of Coffee takes readers on a global tour of coffee-growing countries, presenting the bean in full-color photographs and concise, informative text. It covers where coffee is grown, the people who grow it and the cultures in which it is a way of life. It also covers the world of consumption — processing, grades, the consumer and the modern culture of coffee.

For this new edition, the author expanded his research travels over the last several years to include seven additional coffee-growing regions: Democratic Republic of Congo, Uganda, China, Philippines, Thailand, Haiti and Puerto Rico. These are covered in 16 additional pages. As well, all of the book’s maps have been updated to show greater detail, and all statistics and data have been updated to the most recent available.

Organized by continent and then country or region, The World Atlas of Coffee presents the world’s favorite brew in color spreads packed with information.

The coverage in The World Atlas of Coffee is wide and deep. The book is used by barista and coffee-tasting instructors in North America and overseas and has been welcomed by enthusiastic coffee drinkers everywhere. Appropriate for special and general collections alike, it is an essential selection.

THE ART AND SCIENCE OF FOODPAIRING®
10,000 Flavor Matches that Will Transform the Way You Eat
Peter Coucquyt, Bernard Lahousse, Johan Langenbick

“Raspberries and chocolate are obvious friends. But how about chocolate and cauliflower? Such less-well-known duos may be just as delightful according to a visually stunning new book, The Art and Science of Foodpairing. Its authors — a chef, a bioengineer and an entrepreneur — analyzed foods’ aromatic molecular properties to devise 10,000 scientific flavor matches, from accessible (sweet potato and Cognac) to wacky (turkey and crème de cacao). Just the sort of creative prompts any cook could use right now.”
— Wall Street Journal

When humans taste a food, they are processing its taste 80 percent through the nose — via the food’s aromatic molecules — and only 20 percent on the tongue. We can conclude then that knowing the aromatic molecular properties of a food is critical to pairing foods successfully for ultimate taste.

For a long time, we have been unknowingly pairing aromatic molecules out of instinct, cultural history, tradition, and plain guesswork. Many of those are routine and make sense but others are counterintuitive, like balsamic vinegar on strawberries. We like them because they are delicious. What we didn’t know is that they work because they share aromatic molecules. With this new knowledge we have discovered unheard-of pairings like chocolate on cauliflower and kiwi with oyster. So how do we use this new science? We at home don’t have the technology to isolate molecules or store the results in a database.

That’s where The Art and Science of Foodpairing® comes in. From the scientists and chefs who discovered this new culinary science, and the company that created and maintains the enormous database, here is a fabulous reference to 10,000 food pairings for use in both professional and home kitchens. Foodpairing® has proven to be revolutionary: When the Foodpairing® database went live, the chef and restaurant community came on like a storm with 100,000 website hits on the first day. Now over 200,000 chefs and restaurants in 140 countries regularly access the database when designing their menus.

Peter Coucquyt is a chef, Bernard Lahousse is a bio-engineer, Johan Langenbick is an entrepreneur and all three are the co-founders of Foodpairing®, a creative food-tech agency that works with chefs, bartenders, cookery schools and other culinary creatives to provide new food combinations based on the intrinsic properties of different foods. The company analyzes foods to identify common flavor components and operates one of the world’s largest ingredient and flavor databases. The pairings have been validated by 14 of the world’s top chefs. Foodpairing® is based in New York City and Ghent, Belgium.

Through dozens of full color, accurate paintings and illustrations by Titanic artist Ken Marschall, readers can again experience what it was like to sail on history's most famous ship. From the sight of water crashing through the glass-domed roof of the first-class staircase to a view of an underwater robot exploring the remains of the staircase seven decades later, each of the original Marschall paintings displayed here has a breathtaking impact.

Historian Don Lynch, the foremost expert on the people aboard the Titanic has compiled a text filled with enthralling information about the crew, the passengers and the ship itself. Encyclopedic in scope, this volume is an invaluable sourcebook of Titanic lore.

The pages of Titanic: An Illustrated History also display hundreds of archival photographs, paintings and illustrations, many published here for the first time. Authors Lynch and Marschall have also located and photographed fittings and fixtures from the Titanic’s nearly identical sister ship, the Olympic, and can thus reveal the Edwardian splendor of the ship’s interior in colorful visual spreads.

The book’s showpiece is its 3-page foldout which reveals an original cutaway diagram of the Titanic. In this remarkable full-color illustration created by Ken Marschall expressly for this book, the Titanic’s hull is opened up to reveal the layout of her public rooms and staterooms in accurate detail.

Don Lynch is a historian for the Titanic Historical Society. Ken Marschall is the leading painter of the Titanic. His work has been featured on the cover of Time and in National Geographic. Dr. Robert Ballard led the team that discovered the wreck of the Titanic in 1985.

EAT SH*T AND DIE
How Our Daily Food Choices Are Killing Us
Mark Linder, MD

A crash course on how the standard North American diet is killing us and the simple steps you can take to improve your health.

Dr. Mark Linder has examined the research and the news is bad. Obesity has skyrocketed, with nearly half of all Americans measuring as obese. The incidence of type-2 diabetes in the U.S. has exploded by more than 200 percent since 1980, while heart disease and stroke has nearly doubled in the same timeframe. Worse, the interventions we’ve been using for the past 40 years aren’t working.

In this no-holds-barred book, Dr. Mark Linder gives readers the straight goods on why our heath is spiraling out of control and what we can do about it. It isn’t a magic pill, a complicated array of supplements or a pile of cleverly marketed “health” products. No, it is a simple two-step process. Step 1: stop eating processed carbohydrates; Step 2: stop eating vegetable oil. That’s it.

Eat Sh*t and Die gives readers a crash course in nutrition as it relates directly to health. There’s no wishy-washy pseudoscience here. Instead, Dr. Linder, in his trademark off-the-cuff style, goes deep on macronutrient metabolism, explaining exactly what happens inside your body when you load in carbs, fats and proteins. Heavily illustrated and easy to follow, Dr. Linder’s book draws a straight line from our diets to disease. The explanation and solution to the problem are so simple, and in Eat Sh*t and Die, seeing is believing.

Here are some of the medical facts that you’ll discover in this eye-opening volume:

• Saturated fat is good for you.
• Eating foods high in cholesterol is not bad for you.
• When you eat carbohydrates, your body releases insulin. Among its many functions, insulin triggers your body to store fat (for future energy) but also does not allow your body to burn fat for energy. So, consistently triggering insulin release by eating carbohydrates perpetually imprisons your fat.
• Insulin resistance is the best indicator of future diabetes.
• Consuming seed oils (vegetable oils) is likely putting us at risk for heart attacks and strokes.
• And much, much more!

If you are concerned about your health (or someone else’s), would like to lose weight, feel more energized or are simply interested in understanding what goes on inside your body when you eat, Eat Sh*t and Die is the no-nonsense book for you.

Dr. Mark Linder practices family and emergency medicine in Toronto, Ontario, where he guides his practice by the same principles he shares in this book: Eat whole foods and stay away from refined carbs and vegetable oil.

MAN@THE_AIRPORT
How Social Media Saved My Life
(One Syrian’s Story)
Hassan Al Kontar

When civil war broke out in his home country in 2011, Hassan Al Kontar was a young Syrian living and working in the UAE. After a series of setbacks, he was arrested in 2017 and deported in 2018. Unable to obtain a visa for any other country, he became trapped in the arrivals zone at Kuala Lumpur Airport. Exiled by war and trapped by geopolitics, Al Kontar used social media and humor to tell his story to the world, becoming an international celebrity and ultimately finding refuge in Canada.

Man@the_airport explores what it means to be a Syrian, an “illegal” and a refugee. More broadly, it examines the power of social media to amplify individual voices and facilitate political dissent.

Hassan Al Kontar was raised in a prosperous Syrian home, the middle child of a mechanical engineer and nurse. He was working in the UAE when his work permit expired and civil war broke out in his home country. A conscientious objector by faith and temperament, he opted for a hand-to-mouth existence in the shadows until he was arrested and deported. Now a permanent resident of Canada, based in Vancouver, he advocates for refugees around the world.
Graphic Witness features rare wordless novels by five great 20th-century woodcut artists from Europe and North America. The stories they tell reflect the political and social issues of their times as well as the broader issues that are still relevant today.

Frans Masereel (1899–1972) was born in Belgium and is considered the father of the wordless graphic novel. Graphic Witness includes the first reprint of his classic work The Passion of a Man since its 1918 publication in Munich. American Lynd Ward (1905–85), author of the provocative Wild Pilgrimage, is considered among the most important of wordless novelists. Giacomo Patri (1898–1978) was born in Italy and lived in the United States. His White Collar featured an introduction by Rockwell Kent and was used as a promotional piece by the labor movement. Erich Glas’s (1897–1973) haunting wordless novel Leilot, created in 1942, foreshadows the Holocaust, which was not widely known about at the time. Southern Cross by Canadian Laurence Hyde (1914–87) was controversial for its criticism of U.S. H-bomb testing in the South Pacific.

Author George A. Walker draws on his expertise as a woodcut artist to provide insight into the tools and techniques used to create these works of art. As well, he examines the importance of the role of artists as witnesses and critics of their times, and the influence of the genre on the emergence of comics and the modern graphic novel.

This newly expanded edition of Graphic Witness, which features an afterword by cartoonist Seth, will appeal to readers interested in social issues, printmaking, art history and contemporary culture.

George A. Walker is an award-winning wood engraver, book artist, author and illustrator. His courses in the book arts and printmaking at the Ontario College of Art and Design University in Toronto, where he is an Associate Professor, have been running continuously since 1985. For over twenty years he has exhibited his wood engravings and limited-edition books internationally. Among many artist book projects, George has illustrated two hand-printed editions written by Neil Gaiman and is the author of Leonard Cohen: A Woodcut Biography and The Woodcut Artist’s Handbook, also published by Firefly Books.

365 DAYS OF DRAWING
Lise Herzog

A year of easy to progressively harder daily challenges to learn the fundamentals of drawing.

You want to learn to draw. You know you have to practice. Every day. But it is that blank sheet of paper that sets off the “what do I draw?” and “I don’t know how to draw it!” panic. That is where 365 Days of Drawing comes in.

There is a step-by-step drawing exercise for every day of the year. Each shows the steps from the first line to the last and a brief text explains the steps. You can move through the book front to back or pick and choose. All 365 drawings start with one shape or line — a circle, an oval, a square, a rectangle, a curved line, a straight line — upon which the object or person is built. By mixing these basic strokes anything is achievable.

The reader can add perspective to go from two- to three-dimensions: create volume turning a square into a box, add depth turning a circle into a cylinder, create distance making railway tracks disappear. A one-quarter view of a box is different than from the front, and an open box even more different.

Facial features can be a beginning drawer’s nightmare but not if you know the lines of halves and thirds on which all faces are drawn. At the same time, you will learn anatomy and what goes where when someone is walking, bowling, sleeping, and more. In all, there are more than 50 drawings of people in various poses.

The variety is impressive just by using the basic shapes and lines:
• all straight lines for a xylophone, an Egyptian pyramid, a house
• all curved lines for a rhinoceros, a high-heeled shoe, a crying baby
• curved lines mixed with straight lines for a jetliner, a city center, a tennis racket.

With its abundance of approachable drawings as well as loads of tips, instruction and inspiration, 365 Days of Drawing will have even the most artistically challenged mastering the art of drawing. Those with experience can use daily challenges to polish their skills.

Lise Herzog graduated from the School of Decorative Arts in Strasbourg in 1999. She has worked as illustrator of books for both adults and children, and collaborated with educational programs at museums. She lives in France.
PUPPY BIBLE
The Ultimate Week-by-Week Guide to Raising Your Puppy
Claire Arrowsmith and Alison Smith

An owner’s guide to giving a puppy a successful start to life.

Puppy Bible is uniquely designed to guide new puppy owners on a week-by-week basis from the all-important planning and decision stages, up to those exciting first days at home, through the first six months of a puppy’s life and beyond.

The book is divided into two parts. First, a clearly illustrated, week-by-week planner that educates the owner about a number of important topics, including:

- The puppy’s physical and mental development
- What the owner should do at every stage of the puppy’s growth
- Newborn: 8-week countdown to puppy’s arrival
- Toddler: weeks 9 to 12
- Juvenile: weeks 13 to 18
- Adolescent: weeks 19 to 24
- Six months and beyond
- Common problems that may occur.

The information in part one is cross-referenced to part two of the book, a comprehensive encyclopedia covering all areas of puppy care with detailed expert advice on a wide number of topics, such as:

- House training
- General care and grooming
- Health
- Breed-specific considerations
- Behavior
- Socialization
- Obedience training
- Diet
- Socialization and troubleshooting
- Canine first aid.

When it comes to puppies, it’s important to do it right from the very first day. What happens in the first sixteen weeks of its life sets the tone for the rest of the dog’s life. While Puppy Bible is designed primarily for those first 16 weeks, it will be useful at any stage of the dog’s life: training needs occasional reinforcement, general care and grooming are always important, and a source of first aid care is essential.

Claire Arrowsmith is the author of Brain Games for Dogs, Correcting Bad Habits in Dogs and Instant Dog Training.

Alison Smith is the editor of Our Dogs, the UK’s best-selling canine newspaper, and the author of several books on different aspects of dog ownership.

Beautiful Alberta
Text and photographs by Mike Grandmaison

Beautiful Alberta is a spectacular photographic portrait of Canada’s most prosperous province. It reveals the resplendent natural beauty of the West’s towering mountains, cerulean lakes, man-made cities and unique architecture that come together in this awe-inspiring slice of the country.

Mike Grandmaison’s perceptive eye has captured what makes Alberta special in the 125 exquisite photographs in this handsome collection. With a population of 4.1 million and a land area of 661,848 km² (255,541 sq mi), Alberta is Canada’s fourth-largest province and contains within it distinct and varied topographies, from prairies and badlands, to boreal forests and mountain regions. Alberta’s urban areas are no less impressive with portraits of Calgary, Edmonton and Fort McMurray. Renowned for its natural tourist attractions, its towns such as Banff, Canmore, Drumheller and Jasper accommodate legions of visitors throughout the year.

Alberta is home to a range of animals, including bison, grizzly and black bears, big horn sheep and mountain goats. The abundance of flora and fauna within Alberta’s borders contrasts with the vast industrial tracts devoted to extracting and processing oil, which is the province’s economic lifeblood.

Mike Grandmaison lives in Winnipeg, Manitoba and is known for his landscape photography. His other books include Canada (text by Shelagh Rogers), The Rockies and Georgian Bay.

Beautiful Ontario
J.A. Kraulis

In this gorgeous portfolio, J.A. Kraulis focuses on the Ontario landscape to spotlight a land that has been the beloved home to Algonquian- and Iroquoian-speaking Aboriginal Peoples for more than 12,000 years. The province’s Iroquois name, kanadario, is thought to mean beautiful water, beautiful lake or big body of water. That is certainly not surprising: Ontario’s 250,000 lakes hold a full one-fifth of the world’s fresh water.

Kraulis turns his eye to what some like to call Canada’s economic engine, but these pages prove that Ontario is so much more. The magnificent collection of over 200 photographs and identifying captions present the diversity of the province’s landscape. There is rural and urban Ontario in brilliant color: the province’s symbolic flower, the trillium; ice-coated trees at the edge of Niagara Falls’ Horseshoe Falls; Precambrian rock formations left by Ice Age glaciers; the cherry trees of Toronto’s High Park in full bloom; kayakers in Pukaskwa National Park; downtown Toronto’s world-class architecture and Ottawa’s imposing Parliament buildings, recently restored; small town streets lined in southern Ontario’s telltale yellow brick; autumn colors on Beausoleil Island; Orangeville’s hot-air balloon festivities; and so much more.

J.A. Kraulis, among Canada’s most prolific and talented photographers, was raised in Montreal, where he earned degrees in science and architecture at McGill University.
THE HISTORY OF SPEED
The Quest to Go Faster, From the Dawn of the Motor Car to the Speed of Sound
Martin Roach

Ever since we built machines that could transport us, there has been a desire to find ways to make them go faster. For some, going faster isn’t enough — they want to be the fastest. This book celebrates those who have built the machines and driven them at ever greater speeds. This is The History of Speed.

Bestselling automotive writer Martin Roach (The Science of Supercars) tells the extraordinary story of those who have come to be obsessed by speed. From Camille Jenatzy, ‘the Red Devil’, who became the first man to drive at over 100 kmh in 1899, through the golden age of Malcolm Campbell and his Bluebird, and on to the modern era of jet- and rocket-propelled cars, we have gone faster and faster. But this book is not just about these record-breakers, Roach also looks at the technology, the engines and the inventors who helped progress in speed at all levels, from Formula One to the supercars from the likes of Ferrari and Mercedes that are eagerly snapped up by collectors, rarely to be seen on the road.

Accompanied by some of the most stunning images of the cars and those who made and drove them (including pioneering women drivers), Roach tells a wonderful story of innovation and invention. He talks to some of the great drivers to find out what inspires them to risk their lives, and finds out from engineers how they developed their ideas. Along the way, we hear some remarkable tales and anecdotes, but also find out how the pursuit of speed can also have its costs, with many tragic heroes and heroines falling along the way.

Filled with hundreds of color and black-and-white period photographs, this will please antique car enthusiasts as well as racing and speed fans of all ages.

THE GOLF ROUND I’LL NEVER FORGET
Fifty of Golf’s Biggest Stars Recall Their Finest Moments
Matt Adams

Walk with the legends as they recount their greatest game.

No matter how good a player you are, the difficult game that is golf can often be summed up as a good walk spoiled. But for every duffer and hacker who has picked up the sticks, there is always one round that stands out from the rest. Compiled by golf’s best interviewer, Matt Adams, The Golf Round I’ll Never Forget presents 50 such rounds from some of golf’s best and brightest stars.

Readers will march the final round at Cherry Hills with Arnold Palmer as he outlasts Ben Hogan and fends off Jack Nicklaus for a remarkable comeback victory that would stand as his only U.S. Open win. Similarly, readers will revel in the 46-year-old Nicklaus’s come-from-behind victory at the 1986 Masters. And, of course, there is the Tiger Slam — the unforgettable rounds that encompassed the never-before-achieved feat of winning all four majors in succession.

WALKING AWAY FROM HATE

Our Journey Through Extremism
Jeanette Manning & Lauren Manning

As a troubled teen, Lauren Manning sought a refuge online in the angry world of black metal music. When she met a recruiter who offered her the acceptance she craved, the doctrine of white supremacy supplanted the values of her middle class upbringing and Lauren traded suburbia for a life of violence and criminality on the streets of Toronto.

Told from the perspective of both mother and daughter, Walking Away From Hate chronicles Lauren’s descent into extremism, her life within the movement and her ultimate reconnection with the family she once denounced and the mother who refused to give up on her.

Jeanette Manning is active in the Writer’s Community of Durham Region and a volunteer with Life After Hate, a non-profit dedicated to helping people escape extremism. After a difficult period of self-deradicalization, Lauren Manning works in construction and as an outreach specialist with Life After Hate. Both mother and daughter live in Whitby, Ontario.
LYME DISEASE, TICKS AND YOU
Shelley Ball

Lyme disease has been steadily on the rise since the 1990s, and the threat of Lyme is only expected to grow as warmer global temperatures potentially prolong the tick season. In 2018, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimated there were 33,666 confirmed and probable cases of Lyme disease reported in the United States. The Government of Canada reported 1,487 cases that same year. Lyme, if not treated early, can develop into a debilitating disease, with symptoms that can be felt for months or even years. Lyme Disease, Ticks and You is an easy-to-follow and essential guide to understanding, detecting and treating Lyme and other tick-borne diseases.

LOVE YOU FOREVER POP-UP EDITION

The much-loved bestseller, now in a pop-up edition.

When we published Love You Forever in 1986, we thought it had great appeal.

But we had no idea that booksellers would love it and sell 30 million copies.

Now there is a gift edition whose characters move!

A young mother holds her baby, and while she sings to it she rocks it back and forth.

And through her life, and the stages of his life, she holds her son and rocks him back and forth as she tells him that she will love him forever.

In double-page spreads and gatefolds, the whole text of Love You Forever is in this book, and enhanced with three-dimensional elements. But even better is the feature that moves — as the chorus is sung, you can move the characters back and forth.

This makes a wonderful extra feature for young readers, the grandchildren of people who raised their own children with this story and who want to pass it to a new generation.

GLOW DOWN DEEP
Amazing Creatures That Light Up
Lisa Regan

“Riveting... Rarely have denizens of the deep looked more eerily appealing.” — Kirkus

“Amazing!” “Wow!” “Cool” Any one of these may well be the response when children see the lenticular cover and glow-in-the-dark illustrations in Glow Down Deep. The book takes readers into the lives of amazing glowing organisms — animal and otherwise — and shines a new light on the spectacular natural phenomena of bioluminescence, biofluorescence and ultraviolet light.

Glow Down Deep goes into the depths of the ocean to find sea dwellers that use the power of light — or the semblance of light — to survive. It could be for camouflage, mating, warding off predators or attracting prey. The Glowing Ocean, for example, is a type of bioluminescence that many humans can see. It occurs on the water surface when small planktonic surface dwellers — such as single-celled Dinoflagellates — are bioluminescent. Under the right conditions, they bloom in dense layers, giving the ocean surface a reddish-brown color in daylight and a sparkly sheen at night. Some of the Dinoflagellates in these algal blooms are poisonous to animals and can cause sickness or even death in humans.

Readers will learn about 23 organisms, their biology, what type of luminescence they use, where and how they survive:

- Bigfin Reef Squid
- Dragonfish
- Siphonophore
- Glowing Coral
- Cock-Eyed Squid
- Crystal Jellyfish
- Sea Pen
- Chain Catshark
- Comb Jelly
- Hatchet Fish
- Krill
- Plankton.
- Glowing Oceans
- Bobtail Squid
- Helmet Jellyfish
- Tube Anemone
- False Stonefish
- Viper Fish
- Sea Cucumber
- White Spotted Jellyfish
- Pipefish
- Angler Fish
- Seahorse

“Did You Know?” insets focus on unusual facts, like the sailors who followed the lights of Flashlight Fish to guide their boats through dangerous coral reefs at night; or the glowing Siphonophore Fish, one of the longest animals in the world, even longer than a blue whale!

Lisa Regan studied English and Linguistics at the University of Nottingham and gained a postgraduate diploma in Publishing at West Herts College. She has written over 400 books, including picture books, puzzle books and children's reference. She lives in Colchester, UK.

NATURE AT NIGHT
Lisa Regan

"Regan's lucid, specific remarks about how each organism makes and uses its lights are spot-on... Both casual browsers and budding zoologists will light up." — Kirkus

Nature at Night takes readers into the lives of some amazing glowing animal and plant organisms that use the phenomena of bioluminescence, biofluorescence or ultraviolet light as part of their survival arsenal.

Nature at Night goes into the dark corners of forest, jungle and ocean to find organisms that use luminescence for camouflage, mating, warding off predators or attracting prey. One of the organisms is not an animal but is vegetation: Foxfire Fungi glow to attract animals that will eat them and spread their pores through their scat and so help the plant to reproduce.

The book includes well-known creatures like Fireflies, Eels and Lanternfish, but also three animals which, it has been recently discovered, use luminescence: Polka-Dot Tree Frogs, the only known amphibian to use biofluorescence; Puffins, which use ultraviolet light to make their beaks glow during courtship; and Hawksbill Turtles, one of the rarest species on our planet and the first reptile seen exhibiting biofluorescence.

In all, Nature at Night features Foxfire Fungi and Aurora, as well as these 21 glowing creatures:

- Dinoflagellate
- Glowworms
- Firefly
- Crocodile
- Hawksbill Turtle
- Scorpion
- Fimbriated Moray Eel
- Jellyfish
- Swallowtail Butterfly
- Yellow Stingray
- Lizardfish
- Click Beetle
- Eye-Flash Squid
- Lanternfish
- Atolla Jellyfish
- Polka Dot Tree Frog
- Flashlight Fish
- Octopus
- Chameleon
- Decapod Shrimp
- Puffin

Readers will learn about each organism, its biology, what type of luminescence it uses and how, where it lives and how it survives. "Did You Know?" insets share unusual facts, focus on a topic, or display incredible photographs, like curtains of shining Glowworms hanging from the ceiling of Waipu Cave in New Zealand.

Like its companion title, Glow Down Deep, Nature at Night takes a new look at how nature magically lights up the dark. Young readers will thrill at the striking cover and spend many an hour under the bed sheets marvelling at the glowing illustrations.

ON BOARD THE TITANIC
What It Was Like When The Great Liner Sank
Shelley Tanaka
Paintings by Ken Marschall

TITANIC. This is still the greatest, most recognized name in the history of ships. And it still resonates — a great, dramatic story of pride, error and tragedy.

This is the story of the voyage of the Titanic, from embarkation to disastrous iceberg contact, sinking — and rediscovery by Dr Robert Ballard. It is told by focusing on two real young men who sailed on the great ship: wireless operator Harold Bride, and passenger Jack Thayer, son of the wealthy Marion and John Thayer, American socialites.

How the ship sank, but Jack Thayer and Harold Bride survived, is part of the greater story of the Titanic, told here by the respected Canadian children’s book author Shelley Tanaka, and with period photographs and beautiful paintings by Ken Marschall, with charts and illustrations that show the workings of the ship, the impact, and why it went down.

First published in 1997, this edition has been revised and updated to reflect new information.

Shelley Tanaka is the author of many children’s non-fiction books.

Ken Marschall is celebrated as the finest painter of images of the Titanic.
882½ AMAZING ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT THE TITANIC
Hugh Brewster and Laurie Coulter

"For all trivia lovers this is a great book of questions and answers... and would prove useful to anyone who has an interest in the topic from young readers through to adults." — Resource Links

It’s all here. The financiers and founders of the White Star Line; the building and launch; the ship’s features; the crew and passengers; the fateful collision; the scramble for lifeboats; the sinking and the survivors; the high-tech discovery of the wreck; the movie.... 882½ Amazing Answers to Your Questions About the Titanic is packed with all of the intriguing details and fascinating facts that tell the true story.

It puts myths to rest and confirms the truth. Was the Titanic really unsinkable? Were third-class passengers locked down below? Were there enough lifeboats? Was there a Jack Dawson? Did the Heart of the Ocean diamond really exist? Was there a murderer aboard the ship?

Illustrated with dozens of accurate paintings, diagrams and rare photographs, the book’s special features include the making of James Cameron’s movie Titanic, a true-or-false quiz and the real-life stories of the young people who sailed on the fateful voyage.

TITANIC
Jim Pipe

A large-format, fully illustrated exploration of the Titanic that gives both the sailing experience as well as the tragic end. Includes reproductions of period items, a narrated tour of the ship, eyewitness accounts and the official investigation.

Author Jim Pipe assumes the role of one of the many journalists that covered the maiden voyage. He describes the facts: the financiers and builders, the shipyard, the layout and state-of-the-art technology, the passengers, the appointments, staterooms, dining rooms and more, and also the “hidden” spaces used by the lower-class passengers and the crew.... And of course, he conveys the public astonishment at this new “wonder of the world,” the biggest ship ever, and unsinkable!

The narrator’s imaginary account is combined with period photographs, illustrations, tip-ins, booklets and other ephemera and eyewitness accounts of the sinking, including those by surviving children. He covers the aftermath of the tragedy and includes the reports and inquiries of the official investigation.

THE LIFE OF ANNE FRANK
Kay Woodward

“An informative volume created with the assistance of the Anne Frank House in Amsterdam places Frank’s diary in context... With the help of this book the words of Anne’s diary will come alive... An effective complement to an enduring chronicle of the Holocaust.” — Kirkus

A compelling visual account of how a Jewish family tried to escape Nazism.

In August 1944, Anne Frank and her family were arrested. Anne was taken to Bergen-Belsen concentration camp where she died of typhus in early 1945, about six months after her arrest and just weeks before the British liberated the camp in April 1945. Anne’s father fulfilled his promise and published 1,500 copies of Achterhuis, or The Secret Annex, in German. Since then the newly named Anne Frank: The Diary of a Young Girl has sold over 30 million copies in 70 languages.

The year 2020 marks the 75th anniversary of the young diarist’s death. Anne wrote the diary during the 25 months that her family of four and four others were hiding in the top floor of an Amsterdam office building, now the Anne Frank Museum, which welcomes one and a half million visitors each year.

The Life of Anne Frank is a compelling factual account and timeline of those two years. Fascinating photographs show the still unchanged Annex, including the hidden entrance, and text takes readers directly inside to reveal the surroundings and Anne’s story.

The book uses images and text plus a timeline to cover:
• the lead-up to war and anti-Semitism
• the building, rented by Frank’s father, and the decision to hide
• how the family escaped without detection
• a who’s who of those hiding
• where they slept, cooked, bathed and ate
• how a typical day would pass
• the helpers who brought food and news of the war
• the attic where Anne could catch a glimpse of nature
• the diary and why Anne wrote a second version
• Nazism, the concentration camps and the aftermath
• how other Jews hid during the war
• the discovery of the hideaway
• what happened to the residents when peace came.

Anne Frank’s book is on school reading lists across the country. For many it is a reader’s first if not only exposure to anti-Semitism and the Holocaust. The Life of Anne Frank makes this seminal time in history come alive. Young readers can grasp the context and place themselves in Anne’s story. The vivid visual presentation throughout brings her ordeal to life in a way that words alone cannot, perhaps not even Anne’s.

Kay Woodward has written over 150 fiction and nonfiction children’s books.

ONCE UPON A POTTY — BOY
ONCE UPON A POTTY — GIRL

The all-time favorite, now with sound button technology.

There are 28.9 million children under the age of five in the U.S. and all of them will need to be toilet trained. This classic book has already helped millions of parents get their children through a life milestone with ease and some entertainment too.

With Once Upon a Potty, a parent reads the book to their child or allows the child to read it while on the potty. Not surprisingly, the book takes some wear. This new edition will withstand such heavy use.

The four sound buttons cover the essentials, with a dose of amusement: a trumpet fanfare for success; kitty meows (is it a milk bowl?); birds singing; and the flush-it’s-all-gone finale. The three AG-13 button cell 1.5V batteries are removable and replaceable, and access is childproof.

Since 1975, Once Upon a Potty has been THE potty training book. It has it all: bright graphics, simple language, a fun story and an anatomically correct hero. With an edition for each gender, the book relates directly to the child, making potty-training relatable and easy to understand. More than four million copies have sold worldwide.

Alona Frankel is the author and illustrator of 30 children’s books. Her characters “Joshua” and “Prudence” from the Potty books have gone on to star in other stories and in videos and instruction books.

GLOW-IN-THE-DARK CREATURES
Natalie Hyde

Glow-in-the-dark creatures possess one of the most amazing abilities in our world. Using only chemicals in their bodies, they can create bioluminescence, or "living light." The lights they produce come in an astonishing variety of colors and patterns. Glow-in-the-dark creatures use their light displays to hide from enemies, to cry for help, to warn of danger, or to find a mate. It is a beautiful silent language.

From fireflies and glowworms to flashlight fish and velvet belly lantern sharks, the diversity and number of creatures who are bioluminescent have surprised scientists. They have found bioluminescent creatures who flit across the night sky, creep along the shadowy ground, float in moonless oceans and swim in the deepest, darkest parts of the sea.

Natalie Hyde is the author of several books for young readers including Saving Armpit, Mine! and Hockey Girl. She lives with her family in southern Ontario.

ESCAPE FROM SYRIA
Samya Kullab
Illustrated by Jackie Roche

★ “Groundbreaking and unforgettable.” — Kirkus (starred review)

“This is a powerful, eye-opening graphic novel that will foster empathy and understanding in readers of all ages.” — The Globe and Mail

★ “In league with Art Spiegelman’s Maus and Marjane Satrapi’s Persepolis, this is a must-purchase for any teen or adult graphic novel collection.” — School Library Journal (starred review)

From the pen of former Daily Star (Lebanon) reporter Samya Kullab comes this breathtaking and hard-hitting story of one family’s struggle to survive in the face of war, displacement, poverty and relocation.

Escape from Syria is a fictionalized account that calls on real-life circumstances and true tales of refugee families to serve as a microcosm of the Syrian uprising and the war and refugee crisis that followed. More than 22,000 copies of the book have sold to date and sadly there is no end in sight for the catastrophe in Syria.

The story spans six years in the lives of Walid, his wife Dalia, and their two children, Amina and Youssef. Forced to flee from Syria, they become asylum-seekers in Lebanon, and finally resettled refugees in the West. It is a story that has been replayed thousands of times by other families.

When the family home in Aleppo is destroyed by a government-led bomb strike, Walid has no choice but to take his wife and children and flee their war-torn and much loved homeland. They struggle to survive in the wretched refugee camps of Lebanon, and when Youssef becomes very ill as a result of the poor hygienic conditions, his father is forced to take great personal risk to save his family.

Walid’s daughter, the young Amina, a whip-smart grade-A student, tells the story. As she witnesses firsthand the harsh realities that her family must endure if they are to survive — swindling smugglers, treacherous ocean crossings and jihadist militias — she is forced to grow up very quickly in order to help her parents and brother.

Samya Kullab is a journalist based in the Middle East covering security, politics and refugees. She has worked in Lebanon, Turkey, the West Bank and Gaza, and Iraq for a variety of international media outlets. She was a reporter with Lebanon’s The Daily Star for three years, and is now an Iraq correspondent for the Associated Press based in Baghdad.

A SOFT PLACE TO FALL
Tanya Poznikoff

When he was five years old, Creighton’s mother left. He and his father know she has started a career as a singer but not much more than that. Dad’s work with a carnival means they have not set down roots anywhere for long and as a result Creighton does not have a formal education. When they finally settle in a small town, Creighton is 14 years old. When he starts school there he is placed in an alternate school — which it turns out is a place for “losers” — kids who struggle with learning.

Gradually Creighton meets other kids in his new school — like Schooner who can’t read but has his own kind of wisdom and Carin who was a victim of sexual assault when she was thirteen. There is one teacher at the school who truly cares about the students and who encourages their hopes for the future. But when she announces she is leaving at the end of the year, the students feel abandoned. School becomes irrelevant and the students are left to fend for themselves. How will they manage to survive in spite of all the personal disasters that challenge them.

Tanya Posnikoff has been a teacher at an alternate school and is now a full time school counselor. This is her first novel.

SECOND CHANCES
Harriet Zaidman

Thirteen-year-old Dale Melnyk finds himself stuck in an iron lung, desperately fighting for breath — and wishing he could die. It is the worst outbreak of polio in the history of Winnipeg, and Dale is one of the many young victims being treated in the early 1950s. Second Chances follows Dale’s slow and often agonizing struggle to regain his life, first of all to breathe on his own and then to regain the use of his limbs. Will he ever be able to play hockey again, he wonders? Dale comes to realize that he is doing better than a number of the other patients including Charlene, a young Métis girl confined to a wheelchair but always trying to help their fellow patients.

When Dale discovers his younger brother Brent is also in the polio ward because their father rejected the school program vaccine, a confrontation with his father becomes inevitable. Brent is not getting better and will be dealing with paralysis indefinitely. When Dale finally emerges from his recovery he must reassess what is most important in life — a life that has been changed forever.

THE LEGEND
Jean Mills

Hockey player Griffin Tardiff is starting Grade 11 in a new school, new home, new town. He has not been able to play hockey for months because of a broken arm and now is also cut off from his hockey friends and his on-again, off-again girlfriend. Floundering to find a new focus, he gets an opportunity for school credit to work at the local radio station with the hockey guy. It’s a break (no pun intended) that fits with his abilities as a writer and his fascination with the game. It’s not long before he has made a strong positive impression.

In his new neighborhood, Griff befriends a young boy, Noah, as he practices his ball hockey shots in the driveway. The boy would love to be a hockey player but his mother has vetoed that because of the costs of the hockey program. And Noah’s older sister does not seem interested in encouraging her brother or in the older boy who has become a mentor to Noah. Then one night, Noah bursts in to Griff’s home terrified because of something that has been happening at his home. Now Griff must face a complicated reassessment about his radio station mentor and several aspects of his new life. Jean Mills’ astute insights into the hockey world as well as her ability to penetrate the emotional lives of teenagers makes this a compelling page-turner.
